

EAGLES LANDING

Tewksbury, Massachusetts

CCEAI prepared site plans and permits to transform the former TewMac Airport, an aging private airport, into a mixed commercial, residential and recreational development. The center piece of the project was the construction of the Tewksbury Country Club with a 9-hole golf course, luxury banquet facility and club house.

The club has been complimented by the construction of a gated community consisting of 176 single family homes which surround the course. This project represents another successful Brownfield's Re-development effort.

The top photograph is a picture of Eagles Landing, the club house and banquet facility serving the Tewksbury Country Club. The lower photographs represent the residential community surrounding the golf course.
